

ABSTRACT

A method is provided for enhancing the production of an infectious retrovirus comprising an envelope polypeptide in a producer cell which method comprises inhibiting the expression or activity in the producer cell of an endogenous receptor which is capable of binding to the envelope polypeptide of said retroviruses.